Five tips for keeping your heart healthy

The heart is your body’s powerhouse and needs a lifetime of care. Follow these five tips to help keep it healthy.

1. Keep a healthy weight

Keeping a healthy weight reduces strain on your heart and lowers your risk of conditions like type-2 diabetes, heart disease and certain cancers.

2. Eat healthy

Eating a diet rich in fruits, vegetables, whole grains, lean proteins and healthy fats can improve your heart health. Avoid foods with lots of sugar, saturated fats and sodium (salt).

3. Exercise regularly

Get about 30 minutes of exercise like walking, biking or swimming

4 to 5 times a week. This helps keep your heart and mind strong. Add in strength training like weightlifting and yoga twice per week. Always talk to your doctor before starting a new exercise program.

4. Don't smoke tobacco or vape

Smoking and vaping damage the heart, leading to high blood pressure and constricted blood vessels which block blood flow in the body. Quitting smoking is one of the best things you can do for your heart.

5. Control high blood pressure

High blood pressure (also known as hypertension) is a condition where the force of blood against the artery walls is too high. It can lead to other heart conditions like coronary artery disease (CAD) and congestive heart failure (CHF). High blood pressure can be managed with lifestyle changes and medication.

Talk to your doctor about treatment plans for staying heart-healthy. Special programs may help you be successful in managing heart health issues. Contact Mercy Care Member Services to find out about Care Management and other heart health wellness programs.

Get help with housing

AHCCCS members can get help with housing services through the H2O program. A member may be eligible if they are experiencing homelessness or are at-risk of experiencing homelessness. H2O services can help:

- Members with a serious mental illness (SMI) designation who are experiencing homelessness.
- And, also diagnosed with a chronic health condition or currently in a correctional facility with a release date scheduled within 90 days or released within the last 90 days.

Mercy Care is working with Solari Inc., the H2O Program Administrator, to help connect members with housing services and coordinate care with our network of providers.

Medicare Part D

Prescription drug benefits for dual-eligible members

People who are eligible and enrolled in both Medicaid and Medicare are considered “dual-eligible” members. Once you are Medicare eligible, your Medicaid plan can no longer pay for your drugs. Dual-eligible people need to enroll in a Medicare plan that includes Part D drug coverage.

Medicare Advantage plans include coverage for Medicare-covered services, Part D prescription drugs and other benefits not covered by Medicare.

Some Medicare Advantage plans are special needs plans (SNPs). These plans include coverage for Medicare-covered services, Part D prescription drugs and additional benefits. And they will coordinate with the Medicaid plan coverage a dual eligible member has.

Mercy Care offers a Dual-Eligible Special Needs Plan (D-SNP) called Mercy Care Advantage. It includes Part D drug coverage. If you qualify for the ALTCS E-PD Medicaid program, live in a long-term care facility (like a nursing home) or get home- and community-based services, you pay $0 for covered drugs. With Part D coverage, you will pay a small amount for covered drugs.

If you don't join a Medicare plan that includes Part D drug coverage, Medicare will automatically enroll you in a stand-alone Medicare Part D prescription drug plan. People who are dual-eligible can switch Medicare plans during certain times of the year.

Note: AHCCCS does not contract nor oversee the activities of any separate stand-alone Medicare Part D prescription drug plans.

Integrated care: What to know

Integrated care means that a member needs only one health plan to get care for their body and mind. Mercy Care members can get their physical and behavioral health services from us.

Peer and family supports can lend a helping hand

Trained Peer and Recovery Support Specialists help members on their recovery journey. These are mentors who can relate to your loved one. They can help families and their loved one address the member's social needs.

Peer support provides:

- Resources to connect with the community
- Tools to use in times of crisis
- Help with treatment and wellness plans
- An advocate who will work with their clinical team

There are also family support specialists that educate and guide members and their families through the behavioral health system.

A family support specialist is an advocate. They help give a voice to the members and their family of choice, and a chance for members to explain their unique family situation.

Also, they can connect members and their family with Mercy Care community partners that provide services such as employment and housing support.

These community partners are part of the treatment team that works with members and their families. View the list of peer and family support providers.

Peers and families play an important role in helping members be as healthy as possible. That is why Mercy Care works with the Arizona Peer and Family Coalition, an organization of peer and family member advocates.

The coalition makes sure individuals and families have a say in the behavioral health policy decisions that affect their community.

Want to get involved? Or learn more about peer and family support resources? Contact the Peer and Family Referral Center at referralhelp.org or email the Office of Individual and Family Affairs at OIFATeam@mercyareaz.org.

Get help quitting tobacco

Do you use tobacco products such as cigarettes or chewing tobacco? Or vapes? Quitting tobacco products and vapes is one of the best things that you can do for your health.

With help, you can double your chances of quitting successfully. You can get help or coaching through group education, over the phone and by text messaging. You can also get medication from your doctor. You can get all this at no cost to you.

Your doctor can also refer you to the Arizona Smokers Helpline (ASHLine). They provide coaching and resources to help quit tobacco products and vapes. They can also provide information to help protect you and your loved ones from secondhand smoke. You don't need a referral to use the ASHLine.

Looking for more information to help you or someone you know quit? You can:

- Talk to your care manager, if you are part of Mercy Care's Care Management program.
- Talk to your doctor or health care provider.
- Call the Arizona Smokers Helpline (ASHLine) directly at 1-800-556-6222 or visit ashline.org.

There are other resources available for you to quit tobacco and vapes. The Tobacco Free Arizona program helps Arizonans understand the risks of tobacco use and vaping and offers resources for quitting.

HIV and pregnancy: Why testing matters

Pregnant or thinking about having a baby? Be sure to get tested for HIV, or human immunodeficiency virus. HIV is the virus that causes AIDS. When you're pregnant, you can pass HIV on to your child during pregnancy or delivery. But if you know you are infected, you can take steps to keep your baby (and you) healthy.

Special medicines can help prevent passing the virus to the baby. These medicines work best when started early. But they can still help if used before labor begins.

HIV testing is encouraged for all pregnant people, even if you don't think you have HIV. HIV may not have any symptoms for years. So you could have it without knowing it. At the first prenatal visit, the third trimester and when the baby is delivered, the provider will check for sexually transmitted infections (STIs) such as syphilis and chlamydia. They will also offer voluntary HIV testing.

If the test is positive for any STI, your PCP can prescribe medication and help you find counseling. Testing, medication and counseling are provided at no cost to members. For babies born with HIV, giving them medicines early can help them live longer, healthier lives.
